

De La Salle Medallion for Exemplary Volunteer Service (Faculty)

The De La Salle Medallion for Exemplary Volunteer Service honors a faculty member who performs outstanding volunteer service at Lewis University or in his or her community.

Nomination Criteria

The nominee may be someone you have witnessed perform volunteer service, or someone you have heard about. The recipient must be affiliated with Lewis University for five academic semesters. The nominee's volunteer service should not be part of his or her everyday responsibilities as a Lewis University employee. Nominees will be evaluated on quality of service, initiative, uniqueness of contribution, and effect of service on the nominee.

Nominee's Name:

Nominee's Department:

Please comment on the following to help the Mission Recognition and Awards committee better understand the volunteer work in which the nominee has been involved.

Was the volunteer service performed on campus or was it volunteer work in the community?

Please describe the type of service performed by the nominee:

If this volunteer work was performed at Lewis, please articulate how it was NOT part of the nominee's regular job-related responsibilities:

Please describe the uniqueness of the nominee's volunteer contribution(s):

How has the service experience had an impact on the nominee (if known)?

Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Nominator's Name:

Nominator's Department: